PREFERENCES TO INCREASE WEST EXPORT

One Livestock Official Says Move May Result in Dumping

CALGARY, Aug. 22.—Modification of regulations governing livestock exports to the United Kingdom will increase shipments from Western Canada, according to prominent livestock men here last night. Fear of dumping in foreign countries is expressed by one of the men interested in Imperial Economic Conference activities.

A. H. Mayland, president of the United Packing Company and an industry was "bound to benefit from the comparative preference shown Canadian livestock might result in dumping by foreign countries."

He thought it probable foreign countries would dump their stock and ham into the United Kingdom in an effort to compete with Canadian product. This might result, Mr. Mayland continued, in a drastic cut in prices.

BROADER MARKET

One of the largest cattle shippers in Alberta, J. B. Cross, believed Alberta ranchers would receive greater benefit through modification of the regulations and from a "much broader market." A number of other members and speakers, including Senator Patrick Burns, were pleased with the steps taken at the conference.

"It is an excellent thing," said Senator Burns, "that thousands of cattle annually from my ranches in Alberta, through John Burns, nephew of Senator Burns and head of Burns & Co., are packing firm, and removal of the quarantine restrictions in the United Kingdom and other countries to permit entry of well bred livestock would result in greater trade freedom."

Free State Open To Canadian Wheat

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA, Aug. 22.—The Irish Free State will open its doors to Canadian wheat as of Saturday, a trade treaty signed Saturday afternoon when the Free State and the United Kingdom agreed to the lowest tariff rates. Irish products will receive from Canada the tariff preferences granted under the Canadian-American trade agreement.

Ireland is a potential market for as many thousands of bushels of Canadian wheat. In the last year, the value in March, Canada sold the Free State 600,000 bushels of wheat at $32.50. The year before the value was $48,000. With wheat now receiving most-favored-nation treatment, trade is expected to increase substantially.

Under the terms of the treaty Canada agrees to grant the Free State the same tariff preferences which the United Kingdom receives under its agreement with Canada. In return, the Free State undertakes to tax Canadian goods no more heavily than any other country.

Canada has a heavy favorable trade balance with the Free State. In the last fiscal year, Canadian exports totalled $2,681,400 and imports $1,000,000.

"I don't know," said Mr. Armer, "I am sure I have not heard of it. My father and I are great pals."

Edmonton Teacher Visits Old School in Luton, England

Mr. A. E. Russell, Principal of Norwood School, Gives Interesting Views

Making a survey of educational methods in use in England today with a view to addressing a body of teachers here upon his return to his city, Mr. Alfred E. Russell, principal of Norwood School, has been visiting various parts of his native England this summer. He is on his way home after a tour of inspection for twenty years in Christ Church Boys' School, Luton, Bedfordshire, the school which Mr. Russell attended to correspond with twenty Canadian boys. He visited his former school and told the boys how interesting and different his life in Canadian schools.

The following excerpt from "The Luton News" and Bedfordshire Advertiser of August 4 is of interest here.

"More than twenty years ago when the school of Christ Church, Luton, opened regularly each morning, Mr. Russell, a young man, was one of its first juniors but Mr. Russell left Luton for Canada in 1911, and the school had not heard of him since. A few years ago, however, the door opened again and in walked—Mr. Russell."

"He is home in a new way, for his month's holiday, and except for two days he is here during the summer. It is his first visit for the twenty years he has been in the Dominion."

"Mr. Russell is a new story to the school, but he is a familiar one to his parents at New Bedford, Westchester, but, as a young man, he was at his old school in Luton he felt he had to go in to see what had happened. To his surprise he found that the school was the old days. Mr. F. C. Sharnham was headmaster of the school, and Mr. Russell was still in the school. He found himself immediately at home."

ANOTHER OLD LUTONIAN
In Canada, some years ago, he met another old Christ Church teacher, Mr. Charles Nidd, who was at a school ten miles north of Luton. Eventually, he came to this school, and when Mr. Russell came to the next Canadian school, he was the very school his one-time headmaster had recently left."

"Mr. Nidd moved on to the neighboring province of Saskatchewan, but Mr. Russell has been in the school since. The text school to his headmaster has the unenviable task of instructing knowledge to a group of thirty-three different nationalities, not only through the English, Scottish, and Irish, but through many other intelligent people."

"Mr. Russell's knowledge of the schools of Canada, as in the States, but he found it surprising to find that a boy plays football means that he plays rugby, so that the three games, O.K., yet, it is football and soccer. But cricket they think that the slow game on for more than one day does not give them much appeal across the Atlantic."

"During the war Mr. Russell served with the Leithbridge Cavalry, and he is now a member of the Canadian Field Artillery, with recruiting duty in Calgary, where he is stationed at Fort. North Wales, but he says he will not be in the war, but he is finding some surprises."

WHERE DANIELS GOES
The first thing that struck him was the cleanliness of the streets and the immense improvement in England's roads. He found the first new two-lane roads, and the ordinary roads are now paved. His third-class road was declared, and suggested that in half an hour you might easily pass a hundred of automobiles in the streets of Edmonton. Of course, the roads are not as good as in his memories. He was surprised at the number and quality of the automobiles, which are now everywhere.

Mr. Russell has been to see his eyes open not only because he does not know how long it has been since he has seen a car, but also because he has been supplied with a car. He is now driving a car, and he is writing down his chief impressions. He is anxious to get some sense of the real English countryside to take back to the "natives" and to the people, as his saying goes. He is now driving a car, and he is writing down his chief impressions. He is anxious to get some sense of the real English countryside to take back to the "natives" and to the people, as his saying goes.

A REAL LUTON HAT
"I really only visited your city for a few days, but he left his suitcase behind in his luggage. He says that a few years ago it was very much in the style of the hat, but lately he has not seen there. He thinks it curious that a young man in a town trying to increase its sale of hats, should have a hat like that. He is now driving a car, and he is writing down his chief impressions. He is anxious to get some sense of the real English countryside to take back to the "natives" and to the people, as his saying goes."

Poems That Live
THE ARROW AND THE SONG
I had an arrow shot at me
It fell to earth, I knew not where
For, so swiftly it came, it could
Not follow it in its flight
I breathed a song into the air,
It fell to earth, I knew not where
For who has seen so great a thing
That it can follow such a track?

That it can follow such a track?
Long, long afterward, in one
Of those rare moments when
The soul is free to wander
And the song from beginning to end
I found again in the heart of a friend

Autumn Frocks Tend to Drape

Tailored Mode for Daytime Still Carries on But There's Strong Tendency to Suggest Drapery, Especially in Bodice Treatments

BY LUCY CLAIRE
Fashion Writer for Central Press
As we draw near to fall the question arises in the feminine world. What will the clothes harvest be? Well, to begin with, clothes for fall, and in this we may have some ideas, are more wearable than for many seasons. Although the tailors' mode for daytime clothes still carries on, there is a strong tendency to suggest drapery in the treatment of bodices, in the surface which has, in the higher crepe, the clinging and clinging drapes of sleeves, skirts and occasionally the waistline of the bodice having the appearance of soft folds rather than the belated lines of the princess silhouette.

In short, nearly every collection works with the crepe idea. In fact, the crepe idea is the treatment of bodices, in the surface which has, in the higher crepe, the clinging and clinging drapes of sleeves, skirts and occasionally the waistline of the bodice having the appearance of soft folds rather than the belated lines of the princess silhouette.

TAILORED BUT DRAPED
More tailored in type, but still with the drape incorporated at the neckline is the frock of sheer brown wool, sketched at the left. The frock fabric is of a rough dull surface with rough white crepe used for the draped revers. The double breasted effect, seamed details and easy width at the arms are also interesting details.

Women Attend in Pretty Summer Costumes—Two-piece Suits Much in Evidence—Many of Printed Materials

BY KATHLEEN DILLON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA, Aug. 22.—Lacking much of the formality of the opening of the Imperial Economic Conference, the closing ceremony on Saturday morning was more of a social gathering. Long before the appointed hour, the galleries of the Commons Chamber, were filled with women, wearing pretty summer costumes. They chose mostly two-piece suits in the crepe, some in figured designs and others of simple pattern, opening over brightly colored blouses.

Mrs. Stanley Baldwin was wearing a painted crepe in green shades with a large starry hat of beige trimmed with cornflowers.

Lady Percy was next to Mrs. Baldwin and Mrs. Gidley. The British high commissioner and Lady Clark, Hon. Martin Burrell, Hon. Edgar N. Rhodes and Mrs. Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Goss and many others.

Gladys Tells Best Way To Beautify Eyes

By GLADYS GLAD
"America's Most Famous Beauty"

Dear Miss Glad—My eyes are quite small, but I have lovely long lashes. I use mascara on them to darken and emphasize them. But what the doctor orders is to use eye drops. I use black ones to accumulate under my eyes, giving me a dark and dispirited appearance. Have you any suggestion to make me more attractive?

"SILMA—
If your eyes are rather small, despite the lengthening of your lashes, you should not apply the mascara on your lower lashes. If you do, it will make the eyes appear smaller. As a consequence, the eyes and the appearance will not result. What's more, if you apply mascara to the lower part of an eye, it will show up the size of your eyes and definitely, and emphasize their smallness. I suggest that you apply your eye drops and mascara to your upper eyelids. And on your lower lids, apply your eye drops. Then blend the line softly with the tip of your finger."

Dear Miss Glad—The course of the reducing course in your "Figure" booklet, I managed to take off 10 pounds in six weeks. And I feel very grand now. That's why I'm back for more information. What I want now is an elegant neck. I have heard there were such things, and I have enlarged pores. I like to try one. You suggest any suggestion?

"MARILYN—
There are so many attractive necks, that it is difficult to pick out any particular one for you. However, the eye white neck is the simplest of all. It is made by first cleaning your skin thoroughly. Then brush it with an egg, and when it is of a stiff consistency, spread it over your face. To increase its astringent properties, pour some beauty soap, suggest the addition of a bit of lemon juice to the egg white. This, however, is likely to give you dryness to the tender facial skin. Allow the mask to remain on your face until thoroughly dry. Then remove with tepid water and your face will be left with a soft, clear skin, use a bit of cold cream, to counteract any dry effect."

"Dear Miss Glad—Maybe I'm being critical, but I have noticed that I actually like it. However, I want to get a permanent and was wondering what kind of a wave would be best. Also, is there anything I should do before the waves?"

"MRS. DUBOIS—
Usually, just washing the hair with soap is best for gray or white hair. When properly given, a flaxseed permanent will give you soft waves, and on kindliness or unkindness of the hair, it will be determined. Before a permanent, however, the hair should be washed with a series of hot oil treatments in order to condition it. Then, when washing, such hair should be given additional hot oil treatments to remove any dryness. After the oiling, rinsing in order to keep it soft, smooth and of a lovely, snowy-white hue."

EDITORS NOTE—While it is impossible for Miss Glad to answer beauty questions on this page, she will be happy to send you her personal advice on "The Figure" and "Beauty Culture" if you care to send her care a stamped, self-addressed envelope, enclosing a stamped, and ten cents in coin for each, to cover cost of printing and mailing. For her advice on "Care of the Hands and Hair," send the First and Last, "Ten cents in coin for each, and a self-addressed stamped envelope are required. Personal questions on beauty will answered through Miss Glad's daily column."

The Housewife's Idea Box

Some thought is necessary in the care of your leek dishes. When you remove a dish from the stove, it is very hot. Do not place it under any hot water too soon after removing the contents. Allow it to warm up first. If the dish contains butter, do not add it until the oil is cooled off.

Avoid Cracking of Icebox

Reg claims on clothing are best removed by spraying with cold or lukewarm water. Do not use hot water, as it is likely to set the stain. Washable and non-washable fabrics.

Your Children

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

PERIOD
Summer and teething seem to be synonymous when babies are concerned. Many things have been discovered to obviate trouble on this score during the hot months, say babies under the best of care, having supervised by the most modern methods. It is to be expected, however, and some have had. When a baby teeth, he is not the only one who suffers. And when nerves are taut, either a baby or a mother, the first sign of irritation is the first thing to be affected.

Many thousands of mothers have been attributed to teeth, however. It is better not to do too much.

Mrs. Infanta Page McKillop, once a leader in San Francisco and London social circles, was evicted with members of her family from her Trisco home, recently. Her police dog, Rexhart, who posed with her for this photo in happier days, attacked the bailiffs. Rexhart was shot dead.

Lots to be "tankful" for. Mickey Riley and Georgia Coleman, swim sweethearts, neglected lovemaking while training for the Olympic diving events. However, both captured firsts for United States, so Mickey gave Georgia a big hand.

Japan's famous field hockey team, defeated by British India, came back strong to trounce the United States 9 to 2 in a hard-fought contest. The nimble Nipponese took the lead after five minutes of play and were never threatened thereafter.

Personality plus. Radiating plenty of pep, Billie Elwood, 18, San Antonio miss, arrives home by plane from Galveston after dazzling the judges there. She will soon make a nationwide tour in her new capacity.

The east completed a move west when Quo Tai-Chi, the new Chinese minister from Nanking, reached London. Here he is with his wife and kiddies at Waterloo station.

Throttle wide open. Jean Tatis of France plugs his way to the finishing line in the 400-metres free style race for men. Tatis, who was not quite good enough to beat them all, holds the world's record of 4 minutes 47 seconds, however.

Being only sixteen, through no fault of her own, Betty Furness had to "say aw" before Californian state authorities would permit her to sign film contract. Doctor Lucille Stiegel put the OK on her tonsils so now she's happy.

Photowork photographer focusses pletching phema. That is to say, Paul De Bruyn, German marathon marvel, between periods of training makes good use of his camera. Here we see him logging lovely ladies.

He came, he Shaw, he conquered. George Bernard Shaw appears to have conquered at least two friends with his tricky little camera.

Henry Part Returns From

Plant, Insect Life Gathered in Trip

Mrs. J. Norman Henry and Miss Josephine Henry
Make Trip Alone

Making the second trip by automobile to the trackless wilderness of northern British Columbia, Mrs. J. Norman Henry and Miss Josephine Henry returned to the city on Saturday afternoon more than six weeks of roughing it in the northwestern hills, during which time they collected hundreds of feet of film of new places and insects and plants and returned with specimens of new plants and flowers and insects. They left Sunday for Philadelphia.

Mrs. Henry and her daughter, Josephine, were the first two women to have the automobile entering the long-closed "tropical" trail last year, when they were accompanied by Dr. Norman Henry. On this occasion the two women were in their own car, Mrs. Henry to pilot the car and Josephine to collect the insect specimens.

ROUND UP OF GOATS

Among the thrilling experiences which befell the two women in the wild was the round-up of a troop of mountain goats which were chased and brought to bay and photographed at a range of a few miles from the city. In addition to the much more than a geographical data was gathered by R. P. McClellan, of Vernon, Alberta, for many years a Dominion cartographer.

Many new ice-fields and glaciers in the wild tableland country at the head of the Bear river were explored and examined by the women, which consisted of a trip to the town named above, Jackman, British Columbia, where they were met by a house wren, and Mr. C. Calhoun, who was a member of the party. The latter two were members of the "tropical valley" when the "tropical valley" was discovered.

RETURNING NEXT YEAR

In spite of the fact that they had much weather, Mrs. Henry, who is looking forward to returning to the glorious country again next year, said Mrs. Henry is a contributor to the National Geographic magazine, of Washington, D. C., and is a member of the council of the "tropical valley" at her home in Gladwin, Alberta. She is a fine experimental gardener, in which have been secured many of the rarest specimens of plants and flowers, and particularly a specimen of Columbia with red flowers.

WARR CHERRIES

Among the shrubs are dwarf cherries and ornamental red flowering willows with red catkins. Mrs. Henry trapped bees in flowers and bees on the shrubs, and specimens of which were kindly deposited by the Dominion.

The party started the horse-back portion of the journey at Fort St. John, turning up the Highway river and crossing the divide into the headwaters of the Nelson river from Redden lake. Instead of following their northern trail of last year, the party proceeded up the unknown Bear river right into the glaciers.

It was necessary to cut many miles of trail. Wonderful scenery of the forest and snow were seen to the eastward. The party followed the trail of last year, the party proceeded up the unknown Bear river right into the glaciers.

WILLY WILLYS

—BILL LEWIS—

Burt Johnny Gerlitz and the rest of the clamoring Cadomin men get away to a strong start in their quest for the Northern Alberta Amateur title. They will probably be plenty of their support in the game to say that they'll enjoy the round against the Southsiders.

A one-game lead in something that can't be laughed off in a series that is decided on a two-out-of-three basis.

The large Mr. Gerlitz was smart when his pitching job all the way there in the opener and he probably will be back pretty sudden in an effort to win another.

He may be able to do it, at least. But it is also the probability that the Arctics may get a bit more sudden-like.

I don't believe there was a more pleased man in Alberta than J. P. Morinville, superintendent of the Cadomin Club Company when his boys pulled out with the victory.

As fine a sportsman as you'll find anywhere, he was tickled to death to be present with the result and with the performance of the club.

Nick Mullen, former local boy who played first base for the victors, proved that he has not only retained all his old-time skills, but has also improved upon leaving them. Nick plays both solid baseball and hockey in the city before he left to take a position on the coast.

The two other local boys on the visiting team, Ken Stewart, catcher, and Con Dobson, third base, both performed creditably.

Fats who remembered Frank Lewis as a catcher with Calgary ball club in the past saw the popular player manager of the Arctics demonstrate in no uncertain fashion that he is no longer an infielder for the way he covered the territory, playing like all that could be desired.

Speaking of visitors, the handsome, Johnny Lamare, from "Clyde," fitted into his job well and called 'em capably all the way.

Getting away from baseball for the moment, I might mention that Edmonton has been the home of quite a griffin sport for a little time past in the person of Hugh Randall, huge half-breed of Toronto, who has been in the city since he left his home in the city of the Great Bear Lake, where he has taken a position.

Don Jones, a friend and running mate of his, however, plans to return to the city where he plays with Lewis University, where he is now in the Eastern Canada championship and hopes to play here for a while. He is also a half-breed and shows a real indicator around 162.

One of the most popular of Edmonton young ladies, Ethel, who has been a member of the Y.M.C.A. for a long time, is also a member of the league in this and other seasons. Her for Vancouver last night, where she was to be married.

Banks, of Calgary, and the four-mile race was won by the same swimmer after getting a mile fast and making the rest of the race in 104 minutes. The course was set out by the course of W.
